The News.

A letter from Washington to the New York Times says that Secretary Cobb will resign in favor of the London mission. It is generally understood that ERASTUS CORNING will be COBB's successor in the Treasury Department.

The Grand Jury at Columbia, S. C., in the case of the mate and sailors of the captured slaver Echo, have failed to find a bill against the prisoners. This, of course, is what might have been and indeed was expected.

Various items of interest, from different parts of the country, will be found in the telegraph column.

The New York breadstuffs market was dull and heavy yesterday, without material change in quotations. The same may be said of our own market. Pork, however, was more active and firm, and the weather a decided improvement upon what we have had the day previous.

SIMPLIFYING THE QUESTION.—The News, speaking of the Assumption Scheme, says:

The question is at present very much encumbered by details, which have been promulgated in connection with the project. It will be incumbent upon the legislature to settle down upon some feasible plan, and we therefore attach no importance to the plans which we find in the newspapers. Our own plan is simple:

First, to preserve the credit of the State; and second, to provide for the ultimate payment of this indebtedness by the railroads for whose benefit it was constructed.

We conclude from the above that the News dismisses the "Newhall House" scheme as impracticable and unjust, which it clearly is. As to the News' "simple plan," we have to remark:

First, That the credit of the State is in no danger so long as it continues so pay what it owes. And Second, that nobody will object to "providing" that those who contracted the indebtedness, shall pay it.

TWO SIDES TO THE STORY.—The Badger State copies our table of the Congressional vote in this State and says:

Deducting the Republican gain in the First District, from the Democratic gains in the Second and Third, and the clear Democratic gain in the State in two years, is SIX THOUSAND SIX HUNDRED—a result upon which every Democrat in Wisconsin will look with an honest pride and gratification.

We doubt about the "honest pride and gratification," when the Democrats aforesaid come to consider the damaging fact that, though they have "gained" 6,600 votes "in two years," they have lost 5,600 in one year. Last year, for instance, their average majority on the State ticket was about 500, while this year the Republican majority is six thousand.

THE RIPON MARRIAGE.—The marriage at Ripon, between a colored man and a white girl, which has been made the subject of much comment in the public press, is likely to undergo judicial investigation; the Rev. Mr. PARSONS, who performed the ceremony, having been arrested, on complaint of the girl's parents, and taken to Fond du Lac to answer the charge preferred against him. The Ripon Times gives the following as the facts in the case:

Firstly, The negro is evidently not a full blood, but a half or three-fourths blood African.

Secondly, The girl to whom he was married, was judged by all the persons present at the time, (some eight or ten,) to be a Quadroon, and they still insist, that if she was a white girl, she must have been painted.

Thirdly, All the usual questions were propounded, and satisfactorily answered and no intimation was given that the girl pretended to be white. And further that Mr. Parsons, at the time, verily believed her to be a Quadroon.

We are now informed that the girl is a French girl of nineteen years and that the negro is, so far as moral character is concerned, at least, her equal. Neither of the parties as we are informed, have lived in town but a few weeks, and consequently they are almost entirely unknown.

Homicide by a Woman.

Fatal Result of a Neighborly Quarrel—A Mother and Son held for Manslaughter.

On Friday night last, an affair of the nature of a fight took place in the extreme northern limits of the city, on Larrabee street, near Black Hawk, a locality occupied by German and other foreign-born residents. It has been before alluded to by us, but only as a fight. On Sunday night last one of the parties in the melee died of injuries not before believed to be dangerous, which has given the matter a serious complexion, and yesterday caused the arrest of the assailing parties to await the result of inquest, since which they have been committed, to answer to the crime of homicide.

The affair took place on Larrabee street, near Clybourn Avenue. The parties are all foreign-born. As we were able to glean the best account of the quarrel, the Uttmann family and the Wolffs resided near to one another. There had been bad blood between them, and a feud of some months standing.

On Friday afternoon as Uttman was leaving home to go to town, one of the younger Wolffs chanced to be in front of his premises making a loud noise, singing or shouting. Uttman angrily ordered him to be still, the boy rejoined saucily, and a quarrel sprang up, in which other members of the Wolff family joined. Uttman was at first the better in the encounter, though suffering some severe treatment from a stick in the hands of Jeremiah Wolff, an elder brother, when, suddenly, a new feature was introduced by the presence of the maternal Wolff, armed with a hoe, with which instrument she struck him two blows upon the head, bringing down the edge with such good will that each descent broke the skull of the unfortunate man.

He was taken up senseless and carried into his house, where, throughout the time that intervened before his death on Sunday night, the received the attendance of Drs. Henrike and Lange, but without avail for his relief.

He leaves a wife and several children in reduced circumstances. Coroner James summoned a jury of inquest yesterday afternoon, and a full hearing of the case was had, the main facts being elicited as above. No post mortem was held, both attending physicians giving their testimony, which could not fail to connect the death of the unfortunate Uttman with the injuries received on Friday night in the Wolf affair.

The jury rendered their verdict that Uttman came to his death from a hoe in the hands of Gertrude Wolff and a stick in the hands of Jeremiah Wolf. The woman, Abel Wolff her husband, and John Wolff her younger son, have been committed to jail on a Coroner's warrant to answer to the charge of homicide. Jeremiah, the elder son, has not yet been arrested.—Chicago Press & Tribune of yesterday.

WE GO IN.—It is reported, shadily as yet, that among the benevolent designs of the founders of the State Assumption Scheme, that it is to include the assumption of old newspaper debts! That last feather breaks our opposition—we go in!—Jackson County Banner.

THE INDIAN CIVILIZATION MEETING.—The people of Milwaukee, in common with the majority of the people elsewhere throughout the country, take but mighty little interest indeed in any attempt to civilize or christianize the poor Indians. It was announced in all the papers of the city, that a meeting would be held yesterday afternoon at the Plymouth Church, for the purpose of organizing an association to aid in the civilization of the North-Western Indians, particularly those in our own State, and that Esh-qua-go-na-be, the Indian minister, would address the meeting, &c. At three quarters of an hour after the appointed time some half a dozen or eight individuals (amongst whom were three ladies) assembled at the Lecture Room of the Plymouth Church. Those who took part in the meeting were principally the pastors of the various Protestant Churches in the city. The meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. Dr. PYPER, Dr. HANSEN was called to the chair, and Mr. KAUANAUGH appointed Secretary. The chairman explained the object of the meeting in a few words, and the Secretary read the constitution under which it was proposed to organize an association to be known as the "North Western Indian Civilization Society;" the objects of which are implied in the name. Rev. Mr. LOVE advocated the movement with considerable zeal, and fully approved of the plan set forth in the constitution, which was to procure permanent habitations for the remnants of the Indian tribes still in our State, where they might be instructed in the arts of civilization, and thus induced to abandon their predatory habits. Mr. LOVE expressed his gratification that this movement was not characterized by any sectarian feeling, and that all denominations took an equal interest in its objects. In conclusion the Rev. gentleman moved that the meeting proceed to organize as provided by the proposed constitution.

Rev. Mr. HUMPHREY expressed his entire approbation of the object which was proposed to be undertaken, but he did not think that the way was exactly clear for the formation of such an organization at the present time. Brother TANNER, (Esh-qua-go na-be,) he said, was the main spoke in the wheel which they were about to set in motion. It would be necessary to raise considerable funds to carry out the views of the society, and it was generally understood that Mr. TANNER should act as agent of the society amongst the Indians, but the reverend gentleman looked upon it as a serious question as to whether Mr. TANNER was a person to be entrusted in such a position.

Mr. HUMPHREY intimated that there were certain charges against Esh-qua go-na-be, which it would be necessary to have explained before he could be entrusted with such a mission, and in conclusion, he recommended that a committee be appointed to investigate the matter, and moved that the constitution be laid upon the table until such information was had as would enable them to act intelligibly.

Several other of the Reverend gentlemen present seemed to coincide with the views of Mr. HUMPHREY. Rev. Mr. LOVE, however, did not think that the subject alluded to was any impediment to the organization of the Society.—The first step was to organize the Society and the appointment of any agent was an after consideration.

Esh-qua-go-na be said, as his name had been mentioned, he had a few remarks to offer. He spoke with great feeling and deeply regretted that his motives should so unnecessarily be questioned. That was the tenderest point that they could have touched him upon. He had no intention of accepting the office, in connection with which his name had been mentioned. He did not consider himself qualified for such a position. He only came amongst the white men to beseech them to interest themselves in behalf of his unfortunate countrymen, and it had been his intention to return to his forest home, take care of his family, who were absolutely in want of the necessaries of life, and preach the gospel to his fellow Indians.

In his efforts elsewhere in behalf of his countrymen he had to encounter the opposition of rascally Indian agents, rum-sellers, and even certain religious societies, and he clearly foresaw the same clouds gathering over his path here.—He would rather take up the tomahawk and again resume the war trail as of old, than encounter the vile slanders of such men. All he desired was to see the Society formed, and he was sorry, indeed, that he should have been an obstacle in the way of its organization.

Mr. LOVE here read a report of a committee which had been appointed at Louisville, Ky., entirely exculpating Esh qua-go-na-be from charges similar to those now made against him, and produced various recommendations from high sources, which, however, it was not deemed necessary to read. After considerable discussion in which Rev. Messrs. TILTON, LOVE, SPEES, HUMPHREY and PYPER took part, it was finally resolved to lay the constitution on the table for the present, and appoint a committee of three to correspond with the various missionaries throughout the North West as to the best method of carrying out the plan proposed, and a committee of five to consider the feasibility of organizing the society. The meeting then adjourned to meet again at the call of the committee. For the sake of humanity, we hope that this will not be the end of the movement.

THE DAILY ATLAS.—The Atlas, the German Republican paper of this city, is now published daily, as well as weekly. It is under the charge of Mr. DOMSCHKE, its old and faithful editor, and CARL SCHURZ will be among its contributors.—We hope that our Republican friends throughout the State will give all the aid and comfort in their power to the Atlas.

JOHNSON'S ATHENEUM—ANOTHER GOOD BILL.—The "Corsican Brothers," one of the most attractive spectacles of the modern drama, has been brought out, in excellent style, at the Atheneum. It is well put upon the stage, the leading parts are ably sustained, and the accessories all good. Two crowded houses have given their verdict of approbation and the play is to be performed, for the third time, to-night, with the amusing afterpiece of "the Toodles."

A HINT TO OUR MERCHANTS.—Read the brief article, in this morning's paper, from the Howard County (Iowa) Sentinel, and act upon the hint therein contained.

The Reading To-Night.

MR. EDITOR:—In the paucity of American Lyrical compositions of high standard, we should be incited to guard jealously those deserving the name, and re-calling too, some claiming that character, which are allied to still poorer melodies, we gladly turn to one which really has some pretensions of that kind—the Star-Spangled Banner, by FRANCIS S. KEY. The only ones which dispute the palm with it, we presume no American abroad would be ambitious to acknowledge, except in a facetious mood. It may, perhaps, be said that our people are no singers, that they express themselves in deeds, and that songs belong to an age of effeminacy and luxury. So far as relates to the period when we were struggling for a political existence we in part accept the explanation, or rather excuse for the anomaly of a country without a Lyrical literature, though songs of the description contemplated really belong to stirring times—such as gave birth to the "Marseillaise." It is the lighter play of the fancy that is reserved for the mature, the refined if you please, age of a nation, the impassioned products of the imagination belong to the time of action—"the times that try men's souls." If we would belie the imputation of being a nation of "shop keepers" we must, among other things, encourage the production of this kind of literature. It this is not founded in sound philosophy, why should the sentiment "give me the writing of the songs of a nation," &c., have become proverbial?

I have been led to these remarks by observing the announcement of an entertainment consisting of "Reading from the Poets," by a daughter of FRANCIS KEY.

If a similar announcement had been made in Athens, to the generation following HOMER, what Greek heart but would have bounded at the intelligence, and the daughter of the blind old poet of Scio would have enkindled the sympathy and enthusiasm denied to the father; for, however ungrateful a nation may be during the life-time of its geniuses, and republics are the chief examples, a subsequent generation always awakes to a proper estimate of the possession.—Now, although FRANCIS KEY produced no epic, and we are not aware of any other poetical effusion, yet that one song is more likely to live than any other of the same kind, in our literature, and it is in that regard that I would presume to connect the two names. CLEMENT MOORE has scarcely written more than one poem, but that has furnished "household words" for thousands of families on each returning Christmas Eve since its appearance. As the initiative to any steps towards keeping alive a truly national and patriotic spirit, we should cherish the memory of the writer of our best lyric poem, and this may be done by honoring those who inherit the name or talent.

Mrs. B. is a high connected and refined lady, who takes this laudable means of sustaining herself since the death of her husband, and appeals to our patriotism and chivalric feeling for a fitting response.

Ye Family Paper and Equal Rights.

MR. EDITOR:—Pardon me for imposing farther upon your time and patience in this matter.—The Wisconsin reminds one by its tergiversations and dodging in general, of Dr. DODGE,

"Who dodged the good but couldn't dodge the evil,
"But dodge whichever way he would, he couldn't dodge the devil."

In fact, the Wisconsin is an artful dodger.

But will the well informed local thereof please specify the "ten or twenty denominations" represented in our goodly city, who were overlooked to the same extent as the Methodists. The fact is that every Protestant assemblage except that of the Methodists, was noticed and, with a single exception, reported in full. It was inconvenient—that is his word—to refer to the Methodists, although it was perfectly convenient to report in extenso the sermons delivered in three different Congregational Churches. This is an argument ab inconvenienti with a vengeance. The excuse is trumped up and lame at that.

I believe in editorial independence to any reasonable extent, but when a paper professes to be impartial, a model family paper, I like to see its professed principles reduced to practices.

A word about the Sunday School reporting. No allusion would have been made to the Methodist Mission, had not a party interested handed in a short statement. At that very time a long account of of the other celebration was ready for insertion.

The Methodists ask no favors of the Wisconsin—they demand equal rights. The Methodist Church exceeds in numbers and wealth any other church in the land. During the past year one hundred and thirty-three thousand have been added to its numbers as the fruits of the great revival.

Now for a petty, scandal-loving paper, like the Wisconsin, openly to attack, or practically to ignore the existence of, this church, is but renewing the fable of the dog that barked at the moon—the moon rolled on its course. The "family paper" devours with avidity anything of an immoral character, (see Monday's issue, first page,) but in denominational matters, it is impartial when it is convenient!

SUMMERFIELD.

MILWAUKEE—ITS BUSINESS MEN, TRADE AND ADVANTAGES.—A few months since, Mr. J. Holton, of the firm of Holton & Co., Milwaukee, paid our town a flying visit and apprised our business men, to a limited extent, of the advantageous inducements held out by that city for the trade of Northern Iowa. Distrust was depicted upon their countenances. Of the business, or merchants of Milwaukee they knew nothing. Dubuque and St. Louis had laid before them, in extensive detail, through the medium of the press, the advantages they offered for the trade of the North-West, and naturally enough they received the orders from this section. But after the departure of Mr. Holton, we advised one of our merchants to favor him with an order. The advice was acted upon, and the result proved highly satisfactory. Now the benefits of this little incident have been a large bill of goods purchased from Milwaukee Merchants, by the firm of Sabin & Moon, and by Mr. Kirkpatrick.—Still on their return they express great surprise that Milwaukee, identified with the growth of the North-West as she is, should be so unmindful of her interests as to neglect totally to advertise in Northern Iowa.

If any of the business men of Milwaukee would blot out this reproach, we offer them the columns of the Sentinel as a medium.—Howard Co. (Iowa) Sentinel.

BALL OF THE UNION GUARDS.—The ANNUAL Ball of the Union Guards, at Albany Hall, on Monday evening, was, in all respects, a most successful entertainment. The attendance was large, the music excellent, and the supper in the Rotunda, provided by Messrs. DICKINSON & FIELD, of the Albany Restaurant, was abundant and of the best quality. All who were present enjoyed themselves greatly, and wished all manner of prosperity to the Union Guards and Captain BAERT.

☞ Remember the Great Sale of Assignee Dry Goods, which takes place this morning on West Water street, in store room No. 200, by CALEB WALL, the City Auctioneer. Also, the sale of superfine furniture which takes place at dwelling house No. 472 Jackson street, Seventh Ward. Ladies will please attend this sale.

BOARD OF SCHOOL COMMISSIONERS.—The regular monthly meeting of the Board of School Commissioners will be held at their rooms, in the Excelsior Block, this, Wednesday, evening at 7 o'clock.

MUSICAL SOCIETY CONCERT.—There was a very large audience at Albany Hall, last evening, and the Concert gave general satisfaction. It is gratifying to see how fully the merits of our Musical Society are appreciated at home.

Common Council Proceedings

MAYOR PENDLETON PRESIDING.

After the usual presentation of accounts, &c., Alderman Phelps presented a remonstrance from Joel Kneeland and others against the proposed change of the grade of Spring street; which was referred to the Joint Local Committee of the Fourth Ward.

Alderman De Vos presented a memorial from Daniel Daggett and R. W. Pierce, setting forth that a fire company was organized for the Sixth and Ninth Wards, and asking that they should have the same rights as any other authorized fire company in the city; laid on the table.

The Chair presented a communication from the City Clerk, with the resolutions, &c., adopted by the Board of Councillors on the 16th and 22d, which were taken up and acted upon as follows:

A resolution requesting the Committee on Rail Roads to report to the Common Council what Bonds have been issued to aid the construction of railroads by the city, the interest on which remains unpaid; was concurred in.

A resolution remitting a fine of $15 imposed by the Police Justice on Thomas Hugerty; was concurred in.

A resolution requesting the Board of Aldermen to pass the ordinance entitled "an ordinance to authorize the City Comptroller to advertise for proposals for the office of Inspector of Wood, which had been passed by the Board of Councillors, on the 21st of June, was read, when the chair remarked that it was not required by the rules that the Board should take any action upon the resolution.

A resolution that the City Engineer be instructed to make a profile of proposed grade of West Water street and Spring street, in the Fourth Ward, after some discussion was concurred in.

A resolution authorizing the issue of a city order to Alexander Mitchell for $197 50, being part of the tax for improvements on lot 7 block 34, Third Ward, for 1857, also a resolution that the tax for 1854 against the north 34 feet of lots 5 and 6, block 14, Third Ward, in accordance with the petition of Messrs. Baker, Isham & Co., be remitted and charged to the Third Ward fund, were both concurred in unanimously.

A resolution to issue warrants in favor of J. Duffy for $364 83, the amount of his judgment against the city, &c., was concurred in by a vote of 8 to 1.

A bill of Caleb Harrison, for the use of blocks, screws, chains, &c., used by the Bridge Superintendent, amounting to $100, was, on motion of Alderman Lindwurm, referred to the Committee on Bridges.

The Clerk read the resolution offered by Councillor McGrath in the other Board, and adopted, that the Mayor be requested to render to the Common Council, on or before the 1st day of December next, a detailed account in writing, of the city indebtedness, if any, which has been cancelled since the 5th day of May last, 1858, by the one hundred thousand dollars Milwaukee City Bonds then issued and given to His Honor, and the thirty-five thousand dollars Milwaukee City Bonds then deposited in the Ocean Bank, City of New York, and then ordered to be given to him, and also the ten thousand one hundred and ninety three dollars taken from the City Treasury, the same not being accounted for.

Ald. Daggett said that he had no doubt that in due time the Mayor would make a just, honest and equitable report, and such as would be satisfactory to the citizens, and therefore moved the following amendment:

"Provided that the Mayor shall deem it for the best interest of the City to make such report."

Aldermen Phelps and Plankinton supported the amendment.

The Chair then put the question upon the amendment, which was carried by the following vote:

Ayes—Carroll, Dousman, Daggett, Niedermann, Phelps and Plankinton.

Noes—De Vos, Keough and Lindwurm.

The resolution was then adopted by the following vote:

Ayes, 8; Noes 1, Ald. Lindwurm voting in the negative.

A report of the committee on Finance of the Board of Councillors, to allow the estimate of Elias Sims for dredging the fourth section of the Straight Cut Harbor, at $1,409 04, payable in the old form of orders, on motion of Ald. Dousman, was referred to the Harbor Committee, of the Board of Aldermen.

A resolution authorizing the erection of lamp posts at the Oneida and Chestnut street bridges, was concurred in.

An ordinance permanently to establish the grades of certain streets in the First Ward was, on motion of Alderman Keough, after some discussion, passed, under suspension of the rules, having been read three times.

A resolution granting permission to Miss Louies Hull, to occupy for a Soup House, the North basement room in the building owned by the city, situated on Main street, in the Seventh Ward, and known as the University Building, until the 15th day of April. Ald. Daggett moved to amend by inserting after the words "Soup House," the words, "the hall of" and adding at the end of the last line the following: "And the Street Commissioners are requested in accordance with this resolution, to have said room arranged and divided." The amendment was concurred in and the resolution as amended, adopted.

The Chair presented a report from the Commissioners, to whom was referred the memorial of L. W. Weeks, and others in relation to a draw bridge across the Kinnickinick which they were anxious the C & M R R should construct. The Street Commissioners reported that said river was navigable for vessels of light draft for a considerable distance above the Railroad, and recommended that the Milwaukee and Chicago Railroad Company be compelled to put a draw bridge in their track sufficiently wide to admit the passage of vessels. On motion of Alderman Dousman, the report was referred to the City Attorney to obtain his opinion as to the legal rights of the city and of the Railroad Company in the matter.

Ald. Lindwurm, from the Committee on Plats, to whom was referred a resolution passed by the Board of Councillors approving of the plat of H. Hoertel's addition No. 2, in the Ninth Ward, presented their report and recommended the passage of the resolution, which was concurred in and the resolution adopted.

Ald. Lindwurm, from the Committee on Schools, reported back fifteen accounts for sundries ordered by the School Commissioners for the use of the Second Ward Public School.

Ald. Phelps said it would be better to adjourn to another evening for the examination of the bills in question, and moved that when the Board adjourn it be to the next evening, which was concurred in.

The account of the Daily News for City Printing, after some discussion, was re-committed to the Committee on Printing to fix the rates according to the ordinance.

After a long and prosey discussion upon the subject of a House for Engine Co. No. 7, the Board adjourned.

No Tidings of the Missing Steamship.

HALIFAX, Nov. 30.

Nothing has been heard from the steamship Indian Empire, when the Europa left Liverpool. It was hoped that she had put back to America.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 30.

The Grand Jury came into Court this morning and reported that they found no bill in all the three cases against the crew of the slaver Echo. The counsel of the prisoners will probably move for their discharge on Monday, when the question of the constitutionality of the act, declaring the slave trade piracy, will come up for argument. The U. S. Attorney will endeavor to hold the prisoners.

The escaped prisoners, Munroe and McCormick, have not yet been re-captured, as was stated in Monday's New York papers.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30.

The trial of Thos. Albiou, President, and F. A. Newhall, Director of the Pennsylvania Bank, commenced to-day, on the charge of conspiring, cheating and defrauding the said Bank. A motion for separate trial was overruled, when the jury was selected and the case opened by the District Attorney.

Buffalo Matters.

BUFFALO, Nov. 30.

The extensive broom factory of Tutt & Bestow, situated at Williamsville, near this city, was destroyed by fire at an early hour this morning.—Loss $20,000 dollars.

A few hours later the large brewery of Frederick Albrecht, on Batavia street, with its contents of beer and barley was burned. Loss $10,000.

Robert Devereux, Charles Burns and Alexander Rallen have been indicted by the Grand Jury for robbing the banking office of Brown & Keep a few weeks since of $9,000. Allen was a clerk in the office at the time of the robbery.—Most of the money has been recovered.

New York Matters.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.

The stockholders of the Long Island R. R. voted yesterday to change the terminus of their route from Atlantic street, Brooklyn, to Hunter's Point, provided it can be effected on the terms named by the board of directors, viz: the issue by the road of $270,000 of 7 per cent bonds, and the receipt of $62,000 in cash, from parties benefited in Brooklyn.

Washington Matters.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.

It is said by a gentleman particularly interested, that while a recommendation will be made in Congress for a modication of tariff, with a view to increase the revenue, the means by which this should be effected will not be designated by the Secretary of the Treasury. The subject is already agitated in political circles, as to whether there shall be a specific instead of an ad valorum duty on iron.

A letter brought by the steamer Quaker City, says that a number of Nicaraguan adventurers had landed about forty miles from San Juan del Sur, and recent advices from the South state that those who were prevented from going out in the Alice Painter, had made arrangements to reach Nicaragua by some other conveyance.

MILWAUKEE:

WEDNESDAY MORNING, DEC. 1.

Court House and House of Refuge.

At the recent meeting of our Board of Supervisors, they took action upon two subjects of some consequence to the people of this County. These were the location and erection of a new Court House and House of Refuge. The Board resolved to buy a site for the House of Refuge, about two miles and a half from Spring street Bridge, near the Layton House, paying eight hundred dollars per acre, for ten acres in County Bonds. They also appointed a special committee of five to locate the new Court House, somewhere North of the Menomonee and West of the Milwaukee Rivers, and appropriated $25,000, in County bonds, to pay for the same. We hear that this Committee talk of locating the new Court House on the hill in the Sixth Ward, in the vicinity of Mr. Comstock's residence. We think the action of the Committee, if rightly reported, highly injudicious and that of the Supervisors improvident and unwise.

We do not dispute the pressing necessity for a new Court House and Jail, or the many and cogent reasons for establishing a House of Refuge. But why select a site for the latter, two and a half miles from the heart of the city, and pay $800 per acre for it, when equally good, if not better sites, could be obtained nearer by at a much less cost? And why issue County Bonds to pay for this land when real-estate owners in plenty can be found who ask no bonds, nor even any payments down, but will be content to take a contract from the county, for the land required, with seven per cent. interest annually? Again, why abandon the present eligible site for the Court House, which the city owns, but the title to which reverts, if the public buildings are removed, and pay twenty-five thousand dollars for a new and not nearly so convenient, or central a location?

Were our County Treasury overflowing with money, and our credit unlimited, such a purchase would be deemed extravagant and ill-advised. But under the actual circumstances of the case, with our means so straitened and our credit so impaired as they are, it seems worse than folly. We think the time has arrived when this bond issuing business, for all manner of city or county improvements, expenditures, or indebtedness, should be brought to a full stop; and that we hit upon some plan to pay what we already owe before we recklessly incur additional liabilities.

ASSUMPTION, OR REPUDIATION.—The News dissents from the opinion we expressed in Monday's paper, that in no event would the Municipalities, Corporations and People of this State repudiate their honest debts, and says:

We do not know what the Sentinel means by "honest debts," but assuming that it regards the million and a half of bonds issued by this city to aid in the construction of railroads as "honest," we cannot conceive upon what grounds it based its conclusion that this city will pay its "honest debts."

Undoubtedly, the Sentinel regards the bonds issued by this city, in aid of various Rail Roads, as an "honest debt," and one that must and will be paid, and we too, are at a loss to conceive upon what grounds the News bases its conclusion," that this city will not pay "its honest debts."

MINNESOTA AND HER BONDS.—The young State of Minnesota, by a direct vote of the people, decided last Spring to issue five millions in State bonds, in aid of certain Railroads now in progress. Of course, it was a mere advance of State credit, the Rail Road Companies promising "ample security." Well, the R. R. Companies have got the "bonds," and the following paragraph from the N. Y. Times of Nov. 25th, tells what has become of the "security":

The young State of Minnesota, it is to be apprehended, is making a bad start with her Public Debt and Railway System. The first regular Legislature voted $5,000,000 in State 7 per cents to the latter, in exchange for a first mortgage lien upon the work, to be represented by Mortgage Bonds of a similar tenor to the Public Debt so exchanged. The Companies have since created a much larger first mortgage, proposing and insisting that the State shall come in, in common with other mortgagees, for her proportion of the Railway bonds. The Governor denying this construction of the act, refused at first to issue the State Bonds. He contended that the State should be the exclusive first mortgagee; but the Courts, by mandamus, have overruled him; and the bonds of the State under this compulsory process are soon to be brought upon this market. Other irregularities in their issue have been spoken of, and as, according to the old proverb, an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, money lenders had best be assured against the possibility of future legal trouble, before regolliating any other Minnesota State Bonds than those of the small regular issue of $250,000 in 8 per cents, issued for strictly State purposes.

There is a lesson in this transaction which the People of WISCONSIN will do well to lay to heart.

Election in Dakota Territory.

The settlers in Dakotah Territory are again moving in the matter of the organization of the Territory. In October last, a proclamation was issued, by the officers of a Convention held in the Territory, in accordance with the instructions of the meeting ordering an Election to be held in various counties, on the 18th of October, for a Delegate to Washington, to urge upon Congress the necessity of the organization of Dakota. This proclamation is as follows:

PROCLAMATION.

Whereas, Congress did on the third day of June, A. D. 1858, by Statute, discontinue the extension of the Territorial laws over that portion of Territory heretofore included within the limits of Minnesota, and subsequently cut off by the admission of Minnesota in the Union—thereby leaving a large number of citizens without any law to protect them in the pursuit of their legitimate avocations. Therefore, we, the citizens of the several counties of the said unorganized Territory, in convention assembled, do unanimously recommend the holding of an election for a Delegate to Congress, to urge our immediate organization, and to represent us upon the floor of the House of Representatives in Congress until officers are appointed and a proclamation issued for a new election under such organization.

The election under this proclamation will be held on the eighteenth day of October, and the returns to be canvassed and certificates issued by three judges in each county, under oath administered to each other, and testified to by two clerks in each county so voting.

H. S. DONALDSON, President.
BATISTE LAROQUE, } Vice Presidents.
EDWARD HARMAN, }
EDWARD MARION, Secretary.

In accordance with this proclamation, elections were held on the 18th ult., at St. Joseph and Pembina, in Pembina county, Lake Woma, on the Coteau du Prairie, and Big S one Lake. At the former precincts, 434 votes were cast—all of which were for W. W. Kingsbury, Esq., for Delegate to Washington. From the two latter precincts we have not yet received the vote.

There is a good prospect that Dakota will be organized this winter. The speedy organization of the Territory will be of immense benefit to Minnesota.—St. Paul Pioneer, Nov. 26.

GOING DOWN!—At a recent Republican supper in Stillwater, the following excellent resolution was offered:

Resolved, That—judging from the recent elections in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Iowa—the principles of the Republican party are going down—down East, down West, down North, down South, and down the center, and down the hearts and consciences of the American people!

State Assumption.

EDITOR SENTINEL:—A correspondent in the News of Saturday, over the signature "Milwaukee," favors the public with a long letter on the above subject; and adopts the name he does manifestly with the view of making people at a distance believe that he but echoes the opinions of all Milwaukee, when in truth Milwaukee proper is death against the scheme. And it is noticeable that the News, who is in the jaws of the assumptionists, recommends the letter as worthy of a "careful perusal;" says the correspondent—"Milwaukee"—is an intelligent and bold correspondent, and looks the difficulty "right square in the face," thus proving his predilection for the sentiments of his correspondent. However, I propose now to review "Milwaukee," who puts forth the doctrine of "State Assumption, or repudiation" as an alternative; a sentiment, by the way put forth in the same issue of the News by the self constituted "committee on assumption," only slightly paralled by "payment or repudiation;" but the coincidence may be accounted for by the fact that great men generally think alike, and generally speak in the same day, or generation.

Besides being a financier, "Milwaukee" assumes to be a lawyer; and more, a constitutional lawyer; but he is as unfortunate in his law—common and constitutional—as he is in his statement of facts. In his opening paragraph he (as also does the "committee") attacks the legislature for passing laws authorizing cities, towns and counties to loan their credit for works of internal improvement, and argues that, because the legislature did so, therefore the State ought to assume the respective debts; and in his second paragraph he boldly "denies"—"boldly" denies—that the loans were voluntarily given; but says "the people did it under the assurance that they were never to be called upon to pay a dollar of the debt;" in fact under "false pretences."

As to the point in the first paragraph, it would be amply sufficient, in any ordinary case, to answer that the Legislature, at the notorious request of the people of the several cities, towns and counties, simply gave the electors of such cities, towns and counties the liberty of saying by their votes, whether they would loan their credit or not, to the improvements in question. Suppose any legislature had, in the first instance, denied the right of the people to pass upon the question by vote, the very men who now charge recklessness, and that it was done unwisely, would have been the very first to charge disobedience of instructions, and that the servant had got beyond the master; and the first also to see that next time none so audacious to the "sovereigns" should be elected. The legislature generally, very properly, left the matter with the representatives of the several localities interested, believing and knowing, by petition and otherwise, that their respective constituents desired the privilege of voting on the granting, or withholding the several loans. Thus, then, the legislature is exempt from all blame; that body left the question to the people, and they, voluntarily, beyond all doubt, loaned their credit to specific improvements. If any "false pretence" has been used, why let the pretenders be dragged before the public and handed over to the criminal code, as they deserve; but it is absurd; no false pretence has been used, and even if so, it is the province constitutionally, of the State, to punish the false pretenders, but by no means to reimburse the dupe or dupers, under or by virtue of any principle, legal or moral.

"Milwaukee" seems solicitous about the next Republican legislature doing something to wipe out the disgrace entailed by the indebtedness of the Rail Road Companies, cities, towns and counties; and says "this they can do in no other way than by the State assuming the indebtedness and levying a tax on the roads sufficient to pay the interest on the debt," adding that "should the companies fail to pay the tax thus levied, sell the roads," and that thus "the roads would then pass into the hands of enterprising men that (who?) would provide for the liquidation of the debt assumed."

Without stopping to say anything about the next Republican Legislature, believing that body will take care of itself, without the aid or comfort of "Milwaukee," I would ask our "financier" if the State assume the indebtedness and levy a tax on the roads sufficient to pay the interest, and the interest only, what becomes of, and who is to pay the principle when the roads and stock thereof shall be sold to pay the interest? A contingency within range of the perception of "Milwaukee."

And why, I would ask, if the Rail Roads are to be spared now, responsible as they are to the cities, towns and counties specified, would not the same task apply more forcibly after the State has assumed their debts? But "Milwaukee" has unwittingly brought us to the exact point. Let the counties, towns and cities, in behalf of whom all this chem sympathy is being excited—let them look to and sell the securities given them and this action will reach the responsible parties—the guilty parties if "Milwaukee" speaks the truth—and the only parties that ought to suffer. Let the roads now pass into the hands of the enterprising men alluded to, who by honesty, thrift and industry, and the lesson of experience, may redeem and extricate them from the slough of corruption in which they have so long been running.

"Milwaukee" threatens, in his third paragraph, to "repudiate" if the Legislature refuse to submit the question of assumption to the people; and the reasonable inference is, that if the Legislature submit the question, and the people refuse to "assume," "Milwaukee" would, in that event, repudiate. But can he? Can the Cities, Towns and Counties repudiate? This term "repudiate" seems to us to be misunderstood in some and misused in other instances. "Milwaukee" speaks as if he were a sovereign State, when in fact he is only, perhaps, a sovereign "Squatter." Squatter sovereignty may be as impervious to the call of the tax gatherer, or the demand of the Sheriff, or Marshal, as State sovereignty, but the answers would not be the same; while the former would stammer out "I have nothing worth your taking," the latter and the latter only could with propriety say, "I repudiate." Nor does it lie with the Cities, Towns and Counties, any more than squatter sovereignty, to use the word "repudiate." They may demur and appeal to the law and the constitution, but with great respect for "Milwaukee," I apprehend they will find little comfort there. However, we are referred by this writer to certain sections and articles of the Constitution of the State of Wisconsin, and more especially, on this point, to section 8 of article 8, which provides that "on the passage in either House of any law which imposes, continues or creates a debt, the question shall be taken by yeas and nays, which shall be duly entered on the Journal, and three-fifths of all the members elected to each House shall in all such cases be required to constitute a quorum thereto," and told that "no one will dispute but that (that?) the passage (passing?) of the laws authorizing the loaning of our credit to Railroad Companies created a debt, and therefore the yeas and nays ought to have been taken and entered on the Journal of both Houses, in order to give validity and force to the act."

I am really unwilling to disturb the Constitutional repose in which "Milwaukee" is manifestly so very willing to indulge; but he may as well "look the difficulty right square in the face" one day as another; and perhaps better now that he may be the better prepared when it comes. But I must "dispute" his proposition and deny that the low or laws in question either "imposed, continued or created a debt;" such laws only authorized and left it discretionary with the Cities, Towns and Counties to create or not to create such debts as they might think proper or deem advisable; therefore there was no "imposing" nor yet "creating" of such debts by the legislature, constitutionally speaking.

The innocent (?) parties must be thankful to "Milwaukee" for his anxiety that the State should indemnify them; but the Cities, Towns and Counties that thought proper to make the loans are, by their increased wealth, most abundantly able to pay; and though they were not so abundantly able, yet as by their reckless and, if you will, improvident loans they have so "unwisely" stimulated the railroad mania, and with it the hitherto unheard of and appalling corruption and bribery as recently developed, they—the high contracting parties—and they only out to pay or be asked to pay.

But it is not the cities, towns nor counties interested that are now agitating the question of "State Assumption"; this so far as Milwaukee is concerned is most amply proved by the defeat of JACKSON HADLEY for Senator, (one of the fathers of the scheme) and on that very issue, although to insinuate the contrary "Milwaukee" is adopted as the sum de plume of the News correspondent. It is indeed the old rail road hacks, who have made and realized not only thousands but hundreds of thousands—may millions—by railroading, and their mercenary employees and bleeding scribes who peak and constitute conventions, form committees and publish programmes and addresses and put in motion the whole machinery of the agitation. The whole game is fully understood and duly appreciated, as a little time will show.

On a future occasion I may be here to trouble you with a few remarks on some points of the "Address of the Committee on State Assumption."

Yours, &c., PHILODEMUS.

Milwaukee, Nov 28, '58.

Mr. Seward's Rochester Speech.

We have not until this morning found a convenient opportunity to give space to Mr. Seward's speech delivered at Rochester, on the 25th ult. We now lay it before our readers and commend it to their careful attention, especially to that of those who are interested in watching the progress of events in the political history of the country. It certainly is a remarkable speech, containing in small compass, clearly expressed, a vast deal of food for thought. We shall not undertake to defend Mr. Seward from the assaults of those who have undertaken to make capital against him and against the Republican party by the perversion of a single sentence in the in the speech, suppressing, for the purpose of misrepresentation, another sentence which explains the first. Mr. Seward says that sooner or later, the United States must be either wholly slave-holding or wholly non-slaveholding; this remark in itself is as baldly as a prediction, and one looking to as remote a fulfillment, as the saying of Napoleon by which it is illustrated, that all Europe must become either Republican or Cossack; and when Mr. Seward adds, as he does in express terms, that he does not expect that the dedication of the whole land to Freedom will be affected otherwise than by the action of the States themselves, co-operating with the Federal Government, in precise accordance with the Constitution, State and National, he strips the remark of every significance which could justly give offence, as revolutionary or unconstitutional.

The speech deserves consideration, not only for the frankness and fairness of its expression, which reflect high credit upon Mr. Seward as a man and an orator, but for the acuteness and skill which it exhibits in unfolding the true character of the contending parties, their spirit, policy, aims and objects. With masterly power, Mr. Seward paints the Democratic party in its true colors,—a sectional organization,—possessing but the "semblance of nationality," as was truly said by our neighbor of the Courier, in one of their lucid intervals,—possessing no policy, State or federal, for finance, trade, manufactures, commerce, education, internal improvements, the protection or security of civil or religious liberty, except what is demanded to execute the perpetuation and extension of slavery. Even on this subject the party has no fixed policy. It adopts at each crisis in the history of the country the measure best adapted to secure present success, and arrows the principles necessary to support that measure, only to repudiate and contradict the whole argument by a contrary practice when needed to secure the great aim and purpose of the alliance between the slaveholders of the South, and the Democratic leaders of the North.

In this way the plan of a territorial line of compromise was once adopted and once repealed; non-intervention established and abandoned; squatter sovereignty established and derided; and now the Southern journals preach the duty of Congress to make national laws to protect slave property in the territories.

We are not sorry that Mr. Seward has succeeded in arresting the attention of the whole country to this plain statement of the case. We do not share the apprehensions of those who fear that he has endangered the standing of the republican party by this open avowal of his sentiments; first, because frankness is a manly quality that always commands respect; second, because we believe the substantial truth and soundness of the speech will be admitted, upon reflection, by candid men generally, who are willing to interpret it in the light of its true meaning, and not as it may be distorted and perverted by unscrupulous opponents.

From the N. Y. Times.

Our Foreign Policy.

John Bright recently electrified Great Britain by two speeches to his Birmingham constituents, devoted respectively to England's Domestic and Foreign Policy. For the former, he prescribes a large measure of Parliamentary Reform, as preliminary and essential to more practical reforms; for the latter, he has one simple, comprehensive prescription—a very old but an excellent one—this, namely, MIND YOUR OWN BUSINESS. It is our own old Washingtonian panacea—that which carried our country so safely and happily through her period of infantile weakness, but which is equally adapted to her present maturity and greatness. In other words, Mr. Bright protests energetically against the established British policy of poking your nose into every dark and doubtful corner in quest of possible and prospective dangers to "the Balance of Power," "the Liberties of Europe," "the Independence of Turkey," or some other plausible excuse for a meddling and expenditure of money and blood.—This whole system of continental alliances, continental wars, oppressive armaments and enormous navies, Mr. Bright tersely characterized as a "gigantic system of out-door relief for the Aristocracy"—a sentence which will be found engraved on the understanding of the English People after Mr. Bright shall have passed away.

We advert to these speeches because of their direct bearing on our own National Policy.—We, too,—forgetting the History, the annals and the counsels of Washington—are gradually sliding into the poisonous policy. We are meddling and intriguing for Cuba, when we have a great deal more territory now than we can make good use of for the next three centuries. We are snuffing at, and bowing over Mexico, to determine what we could make by protecting her, when we cannot tolerably protect life or property in our own seaboard cities. We are playing the dictator for Central America. And the baby Republic of Paraguay, when all our interests and traditions should impel us to cultivate the friendship of our Southern neighbors rather than provoke their jealousy and enmity.

Why are we thus embroiling ourselves with our sister Republics of the New World? They were and should be our copyists and admirers; why do we drive them to hate and fear us?—Simply because we, too, have influential classes seeking "out-door-relief;" the relief administered in Army and Navy jobs, contracts, commissions. Take away the hope and fruition of profits from these contrivances for living sumptuously at the public expense, and we could live in peace and amity with the whole world. And why not?

THE IMPROVEMENT CO. LAND OFFICE has been removed from Fond du Lac to this city, where it is now permanently located under the supervision of M. C. Jenne, Esq., one of the most substantial men in the State, as Land Commissioner.

This Land office is by far the most important one in the State. A larger quantity of land is on sale at this office than at any Government Land Office in Wisconsin, and the Company sell on more favorable terms in one respect, viz: a small amount down, and the balance in annual installments for a term of years at a reasonable interest. Another advantage the Improvement Company have over the Government Office, grows out of the fact that the Improvement Lands are selected lands, the best to be found in the Northern and Northwestern portion of the State.

The location of this Land Office is an important acquisition to Appleton. I will bring a large amount of travel and business to our city, and necessarily lead to an increase of the adjacent country.—Appleton Crescent, Nov 28.

"THERE'S LIFE IN THE WOODS FOR ME."—Notwithstanding the hard times, preparations are being made by Messrs McIndoe & Taylor for a "big winter's logging." Mr. Wm. Kennedy and Mr. W. Clemson have started into the woods with the necessary implements, to take charge of the business. With such enterprising young men to conduct it, we bespeak for them plenty of logs in the Spring.—Central Wisconsin, Wausau, Nov, 26.

Army Order.

GENERAL ORDER, NO. XXI.

HEADQUARTERS, DEPARTMENT OF THE WEST,
St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 13, 1858.

1. In pursuance of general order No. 21, from the headquarters of the Army, the portion of the 1st cavalry at Fort Leavenworth is assigned to posts as follows; Captain de Saussure's company F, and Captain Stewart's company K, to Fort Riley, under command of Major Sedgwick; Captain Sackett's company B, and Captain Beall's company A, to Fort Smith; Captain Wood's company C, and Captain Carr's company I, to Fort Washita. Major Sedgwick will superintend the preparation and departure of the companies from Fort Leavenworth before proceeding to his post, and they will march with the least possible delay. The squadrons going to Forts Smith and Washita will proceed, each consolidated, by the most direct practicable road to their posts, having regard to the procurement of forage for their animals on the route. The former will precede the latter twenty-four hours in starting from Fort Leavenworth.

2. The squadron going to Fort Smith will take fifty days' provisions, and that to Fort Washita eighty days' provisions, from Fort Leavenworth, to last during the march, and until the arrival of further supplies. Fresh beef on the march will be purchased on the route. Six months' supply of clothing will also accompany these commands.

3. The necessary transportations for these movements will be furnished from Fort Leavenworth by the Quartermaster's Department; that sent to Forts Smith and Washita will remain at those posts during the Winter and until further orders.

4. Fifteen thousand Sharp's carbine cartridges and 50,000 navy pistol cartridges will be sent without delay to Fort Washita, and 80,000 of each to Fort Smith, from the St. Louis arsenal.

5. The Quartermaster in this city will send without delay a supply of horse and mule shoes for one year to Forts Smith and Washita.

By order of Colonel E. V. SUMNER.
D. C. BUELL, Assistant Adjutant-General.

AMUSING INCIDENT IN COURT.—At the Durham assizes, a very deaf old lady, who had brought an action for damages against a neighbor, was being examined, when the Judge suggested a compromise, and instructed the counsel to ask her what she would take to settle the matter.—"What will you take ?" asked a gentleman in the bob tailed wig of the old lady. The old lady merely shook her head at the counsel, informing the jury, in confidence, that "she was very hard of hearing." "His lordship wants to know what you will take ?" asked the counsel again; this time bawling as loud as ever he could in the old lady's ear. "I thank his lordship kindly," the ancient dame answered stoutly, "and if it's no ill convenience to him, I'll take a little warm ale." [Roars of laughter.]—English paper.

HORSFORD'S HOLLAND BITTERS.—See what the dealers men who sell anything in their line, and who are not interested in the medicine more than any other say:—

"We think highly of your article, and expect it to have a large sale."—BARNES & PARK, New York.

The demand is greatly increasing.

T. W. DEOTT & SON, Philadelphia.

Most medicines require time to introduce them; yours sells at the start.—HOFFMAN & MORWITZ, Philadelphia.

We have been selling Boerhave's Holland Bitters for some months; and, although, when it was first introduced we did not urge its sale, being unacquainted with the article; still we found the public determined to have it, and to meet the demand we have been obliged to purchase more of this article than we ever have of any other patent medicine whatever. Every day brings new testimonials of its efficacy in removing the various complaints for which it is recommended, and in offering it to our customers, we do so with more confidence in its virtues than is due to most preparations of the kind.

THE GREAT ELOPEMENT.

(Concluded.)

IV.

It was the morning of the feast of Consus. The sun never rose more brilliantly, and a sweeter breeze never swept through the rich and romantic groves which surrounded the Palatine Hill. It seemed that the god of war had especially bespoken for his votaries, a day best suited for their amorous design. The spot selected for the banquet was one which nature had so bountifully adorned, that nothing was left for art to supply, except the tables and the dishes. Lofty trees cast a delicious shade around. Through the clustering branches the wind sighed tenderly, and the soft perfumes of a thousand flowers filled the air. A thousand feathery warblers fluttered from bough to bough, echoing each other's gay glad notes. As he surveyed the scene, the king's heart swelled with a proud consciousness of coming triumph. His chosen band of followers were wild with rosy expectations. Even Aurelius, who had travelled much, and who had dined in Greece with the Delphosophists, and cultivated all the arts of appetite and taste, approved of the arrangements, which, indeed, had been very much under his care.

"Our deity has surely inspired us to this deed," said Romulus; "our horses, of which we know he taught his devotees the use, and which therefore form so important a feature in our Consualia, will serve us admirably in bearing off our fair prizes."

An hour passed, and no tidings of the Sabines. Doubtful looks were exchanged by all save Aurelius, who believed that impatience was vulgar, and anxiety spoiled the complexion. Another hour, and still they came not. Low murmurs arose. The king handled his sword nervously. In every countenance an impending explosion might have been detected.

Towards noon, a heavy cloud of dust darkened the horizon. The king's eye brightened. Dratus endeavored to assume a gay and youthful mein. Aurelius passed his fingers through his hair, and suddenly remembered that it was fashionable to be late. The Romans disposed themselves to receive their visitors. Every pulse quickened.

At length a gorgeous cavalcade drew near.—Led on by Tatius, their king, the Quirites swept gracefully up the avenue which led to the festival ground, and, having dismounted, advanced to meet their hosts, who saw with inexpressible delight, that of their guests the larger number were young and lovely women.

Romulus stepped forward with courteous grace, but with the proud bearing that might have been expected on such an occasion of the offspring of the god of war. He deeply felt the honor of this visit; and had he dared to hope his beauteous neighbors would have so very generously responded to his humble invitation, he should have striven to supply more extensive means for their diversion. As it was, he welcomed them with an overflowing heart, and begged them to pardon whatever deficiencies they might observe in the methods and manners of men so long deprived of the sweet and refining influences of their presence.

The women looked vastly pleased. Some murmured acknowledgements; all smiled.—Romulus led Tatius aside, and briefly arranged the order of the day's festivities. Then, with gay assiduity, he devoted himself to the fair spouse of his royal neighbor. Aurelius fell in with the haughty patrician dame who had written a book. Yet she too, was there. Curiosity had crushed out even her scruples. Dratus, his infinite disgust, got entangled with the two old maids, and had not wit enough to extricate himself.

"Who is that tall, distinguished looking gentleman?" asked her Majesty of Romulus, indicating Aurelius, who was circulating in a very large and erratic orbit, among the clustering constellations of youth and beauty, like a regulating comet in the social system.

"That," answered the King, "is Aurelius Superbus, to whom we have delegated the duties of Symposiarch. He is our Rex Convivii to-day. He is a great traveller, and has seen the world; visited Greece recently, and brought back all the newest fashions, and a cook from Athens."

"An Athenian Cook!" said her Majesty, "oh! then it is a vile calumny."

"What was?"

"Never mind."

Both mused. Romulus thought of the prospect of his scheme. The Sabine Queen looked forward to a dinner by an Athenian cook.

The banquet was announced. All started. Aurelius broke off in the midst of a discussion about Homer, with Mistress Lavinia, the fair patrician, whose literary turn of mind he at once discovered, and with infinite delicacy invited the attention of the guests to internal comforts. The assemblage turned towards that portion of the grove sacred to the delights of appetite. And what an assemblage it was. Life, light and beauty. How devotedly the brave Romans studied the fancies of their fair companions. How mean and utterly contemptible did the selfish and unheroic men of Cures show in the contrast. And the flattered dames and damsels; how radiantly they beamed upon their newly found gallants. The battle of love was more than half won already.

The dinner!—that was almost enough to complete the conquest. Never had the genius of Aurelius' cook shown so resplendantly as now.—Every arrangement was complete and exquisite. It was all the cook; but it always happens, the glory rested with the master. A buzz of admiration saluted the pleased ears of the Symposiarch.

Close to a line of mossy banks, far more luxurious than the artfully contrived discarbiloni which long afterwards became the fashion, the tables were conveniently disposed. The effeminancy of accubation was then, happily, unknown among Romans, and the soft verdure of the terraces afforded the most agreeable resting places to be imagined. When all were seated, how brilliant the spectacle! The excited Romans, so long unused to the enlivening associations of womanhood, could scarcely restrain their overflowing joy. Each had found a fair companion congenial to his taste and temper, and the dull Puirites, entirely unsuspicious, and heedful only of the appetizing delicacies before them, failed to observe the effect produced upon their wives and daughters by these new acquaintances.

"For whom is that vacant seat beside your king?" inquired Lavinia of Aurelius.

"My dear Lavinia," answered the Symposiarch—(he was getting on famously,) "my dear Lavinia, that is a subject not lightly to be spoken of. 'Tis a long story. The king was so unfortunate as to kill his brother, Remus, in a passion. Remus jumped higher than the royal pleasure permitted. You shall have the details some day. If he had been a poor devil, Romulus would have been held to stern account; a monarch's indiscretions, however, must not be too severely scrutinized. As it was, the deed was fastened upon Celer, the builder of the wall which Remus leaped over, and Romulus, to keep up appearances, always has a vacant chair set beside him on state occasions, in which the weapons of his deceased brother are deposited. A cheap way of securing the sympathies of the people."

All applied themselves to the banquet. The first course was of stimulating viands, richly prepared with odorous sauces. Fish followed, dressed with not less art and grace. Then, in rapid succession, came ducks, and mutton, and sucking pigs; warm as the first blush of early love, and tender as a maiden's dream. Eggs in a thousand fantastic forms, and vegetables of every character—even truffles, then deemed a dish sufficiently exalted for the gods—adorned the side tables. Never had the Sabellians witnessed a display so rich and rare. The men of Cures did not conceal their amazed admiration. The women, with more tact, affected to consider it a matter of course, and assumed an easy unconcern. But inwardly, their hearts beat with new and strange sensations—the double effect of enraptured palates and entranced souls.

With the fruits appeared the drinking cups, filled with sparkling wines sweetened with honey, and the intoxicating calida, drawing from ample athepsas. The Romans, whose finest energies were soon to be called upon, sipped delicately from little horns decorated with silver and gold, with the exception of Dratus, who, rendered desperate by his inability to rid himself of the two old maids, quaffed off repeated and brimming draughts of barley beer in a reckless manner, that should have called for the frown of society and the interference of the police. The Quirites, who had heard much of Roman punch, gave themselves up to the alluring influences of the calida, and soon found themselves in the very extacies of ambition. A few glided gently under the table. Some slept. Others, who had eaten extensively, snored ——'twas the agonized utterance of an outraged stomach. Those who still maintained a remnant of their mental equilibrium, wore melancholy but serene countenances.

The voice of Romulus was heard. By way of welcome to the guests, a few congratulatory speeches were to be made. Antonius, who was a clever politician, and who contrived ever to hold some profitable office, began. He was always expected to speak, but as his erudition was slender, his adress as always gave evidence of cyclopedical researches and badly digested cramming. But he was one of the leaders of the Fabii, but his party always cheered him, and proclaimed him the greatest orator alive. He was followed by Aucus, a thorough pariot, who was famous for his grace and mellifluousness, as well as for an oration upon the glorious life and deeds of Æneas, the great ancestor of the Romans, which he had everywhere delivered to admiring crowds. After him came Horatius, one of the most distinguished of the Quirilli, whom all admired and few understood: but who commanded attention by the excited energy of his manner. His address occupied half an hour, was composed of an unbroken sentence, and was delivered without taking breath.

And then all repaired to witness the games. Aurelius, who had been in Greece during the seventh Olympiad, was well qualified to direct this portion of the festivities. He explained to his fair companion the mysteries of cock fighting, which was very popular in Athens, and which he had introduced into the sports of Rome.—Lavinia was delighted with this amusement, and and gently pressed her instructor's hand.

The games over, the assemblage dispersed to wander in couples amid the silent woods. The dying glory of the eve suffused the grove with a flood of rich, warm light. It was the melting hour of love. Romulus passed his arm around the cestus which confined the waist of Stella, and led her gently away, murmuring in her ear soft and persuasive words. Tatius was nowhere to be seen. They approached a tree. The king rapidly cut the name of his lovely friend upon the bark. This, in the ancient custom, signified everything. Stella vowed he was an enchanter; Romulus assured her, her spells were mightier than his. What more remained?

Aurelius and Lavinia had resumed the discussion of Homer. Aurelius thought the poet's description of wines was good, but declared he knew nothing of cookery, for he made his heroes eat nothing but roast meats. Lavinia vowed that Paris was a love, and that Hector was a brute for rebuking him because he dressed his hair so carefully. Aurelius observed that the style of living in the times of Troy was barbarous; and Lavinia, smiling, he passionately besought her to share it ever, and Livinia turned pale and sank into his arms. What more remained?

And all the brave Romans, except the dolt, Dratus, had succeeded likewise. The hearts of the gentle Sabellians were won. What more remained?

Only this: As night advanced, the great cavalcade in honor of Consus was announced. The Romans sprang upon their fiery steeds. A few circling sweeps, and they neared the group of enamored ladies. A sudden pause, a stoop, a spring, a shout of triumph, and the noble horses, gallantly bearing their double burdens, sped swiftly away, before the craven and stupified Quirites could collect their scattered senses.—With ceaseless speed the Romans bounded on, never pausing till all were safely gathered within the walls of Rome. Then Romulus, lifting up his mighty voice, exclaimed—

"Welcome, welcome, dear ones, to the quadrata!"

And his brave followers cried out—

"Welcome, welcome, wives of Rome?"

V.

And thus was the perpetuity of Rome secured.

A CARD TO THE "LADIES"

Dr. Duponcey's Golden Periodical Pills FOR FEMALES.

The combination of ingredients in Dr. Duponcey's Golden Pills are perfectly harmless. They have been used in the private practice of our Dr. Duponcey for over thirty years, and thousands of ladies can testify to their great and never failing success in almost every case, in correcting irregularities, relieving painful and disagreeable menstruation, particularly at the change of life. From five to ten days are cures that common, yet dreadful complaint, the Whites. Nearly every lady in the land suffers from that complaint. The above pill has permanently cured thousands, and will cure you. If you use them according to directions, they will not injure you, on the contrary they remove all obstructions, restore nature to its proper channel, and invigorate the whole system. Ladies, whose health will not permit an increase of Family, will find these pills a most useful preventative. Pregnant females or those suspecting themselves so, are cautioned against using these pills while pregnant, as the proprietor assumes no responsibility after a box of advertisement, although their mildness would prevent any mischief to health—otherwise these pills are recommended. Full and explicit directions accompany each box. Price $1 per Box.

R. R. R.

Mrs. A. S. Lewis R——, a young married lady, and her little daughter, on their return to the city from a visit in the country, were taken violently with Fever and Ague. She took large doses of Quinine, Spts. of Mendereri, Chelcagogue, &c., but no relief was obtained. Every day at 10 o'clock A. M., the chills would come on, and continue till 2 P. M. Her physician would sit in and continue until night; then Hysterics would come on. The young lady being one of our acquaintances, we request ed her to try our R. R. R. Her husband went home, and, feel, and the palms of her hands were well rubbed, and in a few minutes she was free from chills.—Three or Radway's Remedies were given in six hours they operated, since which time she has had no return of the Fever and Ague. One Regulator each day was given the little girl, and the same treatment with the Relief. She has not had a return of Chills since the second day of her taking.

COMMERCIAL & FINANCIAL.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY SENTINEL, Tuesday Evening, Nov. 30, 1858.

MONEY MATTERS.—Currency continues rather scarce, the demand to supply the pork trade being large, and the Banks are not discounting to any very great extent, except for their customers Note Brokers are negotiating paper from 1½ to 3 per cent per month, according to reliability of collaterals and length of time. Bank discounts are 10 per cent, as usual. Exchange is quite plenty and is nominally quoted at 1 per cent.

COMMERCIAL.—There was very little animation in the wheat market to-day, and prices were, if anything, a trifle lower, No. 1 spring ranging from 70 to 71c, and extra from 77 to 85c, with light receipts and moderate sales. Flour remains inactive and without important change, spring extras being held nominally at $3,75@4. Corn is rather dull, and the best new samples will not bring outside of 50c shelled, and 45@44c in the car. Oats are selling in moderate quantities at 35@38c, and barley and rye remain quiet and without change. The pork trade is more lively, and heavy hogs are firmer in consequence of the cool weather. The sales to-day show a range in prices of $4,25@4,75, the average price being $4,61½. Hogs weighing 100 lbs sold at $4,25, and those averaging 300 lbs, or upwards at $5,75. Receipts are again on the increase. Provisions are firm with an upward tendency.

The Cincinnati Gazette of Monday, has the following in relation to hogs and provisions:

In the hog market, there was less excitement than on Friday, but prices were firmly sustained, and on the whole a shade higher than at any previous time this season. The receipts were large, but this had no effect, except so far as it may have prevented a further upward movement of the sweeping character to which the trade has been subject lately. A large proportion of the hogs now arriving are being delivered on contracts, so that the offerings are not all in proportion to the arrivals in the pens. The sales were at prices ranging from $5,25 for light; to $5,75 for heavy. At closes well fatted 200 lbs hogs were said to be held at $5,65@5,75, and late in the afternoon negotiations were pending at $7 for extr lots. The receipts during the 24 hours ending at noon were:

By railroads and other conveyances.....15,000
This swells the receipts for the week, so far, to 50,000 head, and for the season, up to noon Saturday to 152,381.

In provisions there was increased firmness for mess pork, with more buyers than sellers, for present or future delivery, at $17. There is an impression that mess pork will be the best of the product, owing to the supposed scarcity of hogs suitable for making that article. Sales made were held at 6¾@6¾c, but we hear of no sales. Green hams sold to a moderate extent only at 7¾@8c. The market was over-supplied, and consequently dull. Shoulders sold at 5@5¼c. Prime lard brought 10½c per barrel, and 11¼c for keg. It was mostly held higher, but buyers were not anxious.

The following are the principal articles of export by lake for the past forty-eight hours:

Lard, bbls	42	Mdz, tons	5
Pork, bbls	26	Shot, bus	18
Flour, bbls	170	Apples, bbls	120

The imports by Lake are:

Lumber, ft	150m	Pails, doz	128
Shingles	150m	Rags, bags	57
Mds, tons	51	Pitch, bbls	16
Wash-Boards, doz	287	Chair Stuff, bdls	17
Bbls Salt	2,100

The following are the principal receipts by Railroad to-day:
